

Expert translation to enable global business.

Whether you are bringing a new product to global markets, translating complex international contracts, or providing native speaking interpreters for in-person events, Divergent can meet all of your language needs.

Commitment to Quality

Our customers require the highest quality translation on every project that we undertake. To this end, we have implemented strict quality control guidelines at every step of the translation process. From linguist recruitment, vetting, and project assignment to final file delivery, each stage is governed by stringent quality checks, allowing us to cultivate and maintain a standard of quality not found elsewhere in the industry.

Our Services

- Document Translation
- On-site & Telephone Interpreting
- Web & Mobile Localization
- Multicultural Marketing
- Cultural Consulting
- Desktop Publishing & Typesetting

Translation & Localization

Whether it's five hundred words or five hundred thousand, we have the resources to execute your project. We assign linguists who not only have the requisite expert language proficiency, but also the education and professional experience in the relevant subject matter. French court ruling? Not a problem. German web and mobile marketing content? We can handle it. Japanese pharmaceutical lab notes? We have that covered. Each of our projects is tracked using our proprietary, state-of-the-art Translation Management System, ensuring that even the most complicated project is delivered accurately and on or ahead of schedule.

Linguistic Expertise in Our Network

At Divergent, one of our key assets is our proprietary linguist network. With quality as our primary focus, we are committed to working with only the top professional linguists in the industry. We work exclusively with translators whose qualifications enable them to meet our high standards: they have successfully completed our rigorous recruitment/vetting process, average 15 to 20 years of professional translation experience, with many holding JDs, MBAs, and/or PhDs in their specialized fields of study. We have been building relationships with many of our linguists for over a decade, affording us the ability to expertly pair linguists with the language and subject matter needs of each project and each client.

Cutting-Edge Technology

To handle our customers' web and mobile needs, Divergent partners with an industry-leading SaaS translation management platform. We believe that, in the changing landscape of the translation industry, our technology platform is better aligned with our customers' best interests including: lower costs, increased speed, increased quality and vendor flexibility. Our platform puts more power in your hands, which results in a seamless workflow and collaborative partnership. Your Divergent representative will be happy to set up a full demo of our platform and explore whether it is a good fit for your translation management needs.

For more information or to receive a free estimate, please contact us at divergent@divergentls.com or through your nearest office.

San Francisco

sanfrancisco@divergentls.com
(415) 400-4538

Los Angeles

losangeles@divergentls.com
(323) 284-2829

Dallas

dallas@divergentls.com
(214) 432-4867

New York

newyork@divergentls.com
(917) 997-4513